Did you know...?

An important ordinance was passed by the village trustees:

"...each and every male inhabitant over the age of twenty one and under fifty years of age within the limits of Tremont will be required to labor on the streets, alleys and roads...two days during the present year."

The ordinance, passed at the first village meeting on June 8, 1841, continued by warning that anyone who failed to appear for road work after being notified two days in advance would have to pay $1.00 for each day they neglected to work, and face prosecution as well.

The road work would have been difficult but necessary. The roads were deeply rutted and either muddy or dusty. It would have been inconvenient. But this is how the roads were maintained at that time in Tremont. Thankfully, today the care of the roads is not dependent on volunteers!
